

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

J. P. Smith of Ludlow has a tomato plant with four buds and one blossom on it.

In a community of 750 folks, a service flag for 11 men has been raised in Cambridge.

Plans are being considered for the federation of the Congregational and Methodist churches in Stowe.

One hundred and seventy different persons in Ludlow have pledged $138 per month for Red Cross work.

Mrs. H. Lee Tucker died at her home in White River Junction Friday night from burns sustained that evening when her clothing caught fire from a lamp.

So far there are six cases of smallpox in Island Pond. All schools, churches and theatres have been ordered closed. The cases are all in two families.

Clinton J. Willard died recently at his home in Chester of a complication of troubles partly due to a wound which he received in the Civil war and which had never healed.

Warren Johnson, son of scratched one forefinger about five weeks ago at the Jones & Lamson shop in Springfield, developed blood poisoning and the finger had to be amputated at the knuckle.

Harris Metcalf of Williston, a graduate of the University of Vermont and this year principal of the high school in Highgate, has been engaged as principal of the junior-senior high school in Stowe for next year.

Wheat growers in Stowe had excellent results last year and a much larger quantity will be sown this year. On C. O. Burt's farm 150 bushels was raised. Some of it has been made into graham, but most of it was saved for seed.

John J. Gleason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dexter M. Gleason of Woodford, has been designated by Senator Carroll S. Page for cadetship at the Annapolis naval academy. He is only 17 years old, but made the best record at the competitive examination at Northfield, where he is a student at Norwich university.

As a team driven by Elmer Wilkins and his son, Ernest, of Weston Island was passing another team a few days ago, one of Mr. Wilkins' horses slipped and broke a leg. Ernest Wilkins, in shooting the horse with a 32 special bullet, hit it low in the face and a portion of the bullet returned and struck Wilkins in the right eye, injuring the eyeball, but not the sight. Another shot fired finished the horse.

Game Warden George J. Long and Arthur Ray recently found near the lumber camp of the Jones Lumber company in Warren a large doe, which was buried in the snow. The animal has been in the deep snow so long that the melting snow had let it down to the ground and it had worked back under the crust, which was nearly five feet over its head. The doe was nothing but skin and bones. It was brought to Warren village.

The southern part of the state, particularly in the vicinity of Newfane and South Londonderry, seems to be full of game this spring. Bear, otter, fox, bobcat, rabbits and deer being plenty. The county fairs and game warden and a companion counted 20 deer in one herd on a recent day, and a few days before a third man counted 32 deer in one herd on a ridge paralleled to the railroad track. It is estimated that there are 300 or more deer in that locality. Partridges and gray squirrels are plenty and the snow is covered with tracks of all kinds of animals.

Miss Ruth White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. White of Burlington, found herself in a dangerous predicament a few days ago when a pair of runaway horses from Fort Ethan Allen crashed into the pump on which she was riding along. Hearing the horses coming, but being unable to get out of the way, she crouched in the bottom of her sleigh. When the runaways hit her outfit it was with force that knocked the pole through the back of her pump and demolished it, while both horses went completely over the pump and were thrown. Miss White landed near the heels of one of the horses, but received nothing worse than severe bruises and cuts. The accident happened on the Winooski bridge.

DEATH OF BRATTLEBORO MAN.

Albert D. Fessenden Had Reached the Age of 82 Years.

Brattleboro, March 12.—Albert Dorr Fessenden, 82, died Sunday evening in his home at 117 Main street, after a few days' illness with pneumonia. Mr. Fessenden was able to be out and about his work Tuesday as usual, but was taken seriously ill Wednesday.

He was born in Dover Sept. 5, 1835, a son of Rufus and Maria (Kawson) Fessenden, being one of 11 children. He married first Triphena Johnson of Dover, and two children were born to them, both dying in infancy. He married second Miss Maria Holton of Northfield, Mass., and to them one child was born, Miss Stella M. Fessenden of Brattleboro, whose mother died when she was only one week old. His third wife was Miss Nettie Kemp of White Stone, Va., who survives. Two children were born of this union, both of whom died while very young. Besides his wife and daughter he leaves two brothers and two sisters, Mantus Fessenden and Dana J. Fessenden, both of Dover; Mrs. H. B. Reed of Annapolis, Md., and Mrs. Hattie H. Warren of Brattleboro.

Mr. Fessenden was employed for several years by the S. A. Smith Manufacturing company, but for a number of years had worked at odd jobs in town. He was thoroughly devoted to his family and lived a very quiet life. He was not connected with any fraternal orders. He made many friends and retained those friendships.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at his home on Main street. Rev. D. E. Trout, pastor of the First Universalist church, will officiate. The body will be placed in the tomb at Prospect hill and in the spring will be taken to Dover for burial.

IS BARRE SATISFIED?

The Evidence Is Convincing—The Testimony Open to Investigation.

Before a statement can be accepted here, it must be supported by local testimony—by the evidence of someone residing in Barre. Statements from unknown people in remote places may be true, but we cannot prove them. Here is a statement by a Barre resident:

A. J. Stewart, carriage maker, 24-26 Prospect street, says: "Some years ago, I suffered an accident to my back, which left my kidneys weak. I was troubled more or less after that with the secretions; they were off color and generally contained sediment. My back was quite painful at times. I have always used Doan's Kidney Pills at such times, and they have always given satisfactory relief."

DEMOCRACY AND MINORITIES

As Contrasted By David Starr Jordan, Prominent Educator.

Democracy is not merely government by the people. It is the recognition of the welfare of the people as the purpose for which government exists. This purpose involves individual freedom, individual obedience to the laws or agreements which shall be made, with justice as the final aim of both freedom and obedience. In democracy the minority bows to the will of the majority, but not to its opinions. It is essential to freedom that personal opinion should be safeguarded, for it is the backbone of democracy. It results therefore that the touchstone of democracy is found in its treatment of minorities. A republic, no more than a monarchy, can claim infallibility or impeccability. So the will of the majority is always subject to revision. The will of a democracy is the composite of the wills of all its sovereign people. The aims of these may not always be wise or righteous. Their motives are sure to be mixed; hence a democracy cannot suppress adverse opinions by force—only by conciliation and argument. Only a despotism can make a desert of opinion "and call it peace."

A democracy without tolerance is a contradiction of terms. In a democracy each voter is a ruler and each one must be a "conscientious objector" to something. Every minority is held together by the hope that it may some time become a majority. Even one, with right on his side, may become a majority. "His soul goes marching on."

When a minority represents folly, it soon evaporates in free air. Under forcible repression, folly becomes dangerous. Suppression of thought and speech is the discredited weapon of autocracy. That the land of freedom should be secure in its minorities as well as in its majorities, our fathers wrote into the federal constitution those articles which guarantee freedom of the press, of speech, and assembly. They valued freedom more highly than we do because they knew what it was to be without it. They had lived under a Prussian king of England. Wrong action may be put down by law, but wrong opinions never.

But this freedom of minorities exacts certain duties as well. Not every act which is legal can be defended as wise. Wisdom of utterance in time of stress should have a definite and defensible purpose behind it. At the present moment our nation is in the strain of a gigantic world war. Our people as a whole

OLD AGE A CRIME!

Some people are young at 60—red cheeked, ruddy and vigorous. Others the old at 40 joints beginning to stiffen up a bit; step beginning to lag and lose its springiness; occasional touches of pain in the back, feet tired without cause, and possibly a twinge of rheumatic pain. In most cases these are the danger signals to warn you that the kidneys are not promptly doing their work of throwing off the poisons that are always forming in the body. To neglect these natural signs is a crime against yourself. If you have these symptoms you can get prompt relief in GOLD MEDAL HARMON OIL CAPSULES. For more than 25 years this has been the recognized remedy for kidney and bladder ailments.

GOLD MEDAL HARMON OIL CAPSULES are imported direct from the laboratories at Haarlem, Holland. Get them at your druggist's. Do not take a substitute. In boxes, three sizes—Adv.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffing, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly. It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable—Adv.

believe that their entrance into this war was righteous and unavoidable. They have no military or economic ends to serve. They use the potential forces of the nation to assist the self-governing nations of Europe to resist the aggressions of a conquering dynasty. The questions as to whether we could or should have held aloof are no longer pertinent. We are in the war, and in so far as any war may be righteous we are on the right side.

It is our duty as good citizens to look forward and not backward in these days, and the more intelligent our conception of the restoration of Europe, the more effective will be our share in the great work of the century.

Whatever our opinion as to what our course should have been or might have been, we cannot change it now. We are already in the grasp of history. There is no chance of recession, no gain in obstruction, no policy to be altered this side of the end. Old issues are dead; if we influence the future, it must be along lines still living. The one great aim is a just and lasting peace. Every detail of war is wanted destruction unless this proves in fact a "war to end war." (And both these are inseparable from irrepressible antagonism, the government of the dark ages.)

In these days it seems to me that nothing is gained by mass meetings of protest of whatever sort. They will not change the popular will; they will not bring peace; they will not define our national aims; they will not even avert a disaster, even if obstruction were contemplated, and their purpose is easily misapprehended. In every gathering of this sort, when feeling runs high, violent words are sure to be spoken, utterances untruthful or foolish, or truthful and tactless, are to be expected, and the press records those matters only which are extreme and uneasily. But the suppression of such meetings by force is equally unfortunate. Illegal and unwarranted repression has its still longer train of evils.

Lord Courtney of Penwith assures us that "war time is the opportunity of fools," and extremists on both sides live up to their opportunities. But in this "war time" we were punished we should have to recall our armies; we should have to be in jail at home.

To speak seriously, we should avoid needless discord. Unless some point is to be gained by standing out, some matter of conscience or advantage in action, we should present a solid front. No worthy achievement comes through aimless discontent. But our aim should be tolerance and conciliation, not lip service and conformity. As Europe has proved through the ages, there are no heroes that can be cured by "stamping them out." Free discussion and friendly relation are the high road to sanity.

It is a necessary part of the dynamic scheme to fill the civilized world with its professional spies and agents. No nation has ever developed this system on so great a scale as Germany. With the expansion of transportation and the dissemination of intelligence, this organization has been correspondingly expanded. It has had a disreputable part in stirring up discord within the United States.

Step Lively! Corns Quit with "Gets-It"

The Great Corn-Loosener of the Age—Never Fails—Painless.

Watch my feet! What's the use? I go along "right side up" without corns, even with the "Gets-It" I used. I used "Gets-It" on off-the-banana-peel corn remover. I tried other ways, but I was blue in the face and red in the toes. I was for me.

Corns Simply Can't Stop Us, We Use "Gets-It"

Use "Gets-It" It never fails. Touch any corn or callous with two drops of "Gets-It" and "Gets-It" does the rest. It is a relief to be able to stop itching, burning, making them bleed, wrapping them up like packages and using sticky tape and salves. It removes any corn clear and clean, leaving the foot as smooth as your palm. You can wear those new shoes without pain, dance and be frisky on your feet. It's great to use "Gets-It". "Gets-It" is sold at all drug stores; (you need pay no more than 25 cents a bottle), or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Barre and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Cummings & Lewis—Adv.
